

Work as Calling

OBJECTIVE

Everyone has a calling connected to their work, regardless of their profession. This training reveals how God views work as a divine calling. It challenges the traditional view of secular work as separate from spiritual ministry. From the beginning, God has called everyone to work, and that every job, no matter how mundane, can be a means of serving God and fulfilling His purposes. Work is more than a pay check, it is an act of worship and service to God

OVERVIEW

- The importance of calling and its connection to work
